Rhode Island Reds-If you are striving for the "Peak" in egg production and still want a heavy bird with good market possibilities, these Reds are for you. A check of national egg laying contest records will reveal the superior egg laying qualities of this breed.

Barred Rocks-This is another old favorite and one that, in true breeding style, delivers big profits. This is one of the oldest and most selected strains of Barred Rocks in the U.S. The Barred Plymouth Rock has held its own because of its great merit as a profitable, practical fowl for every day in the year use.

Black Sex Link Red Rock Cross-This valuable chicken is produced by mating a R.I. Red male to a barred rock female. The pullets are black with a reddish cast and are splendid layers of large brown eggs.

Babcock White Leghorns-Babcock "The businessman's bird-all around profit makers." Babcock chicks are balanced bred for performance Livability- High production- Superior shell strength and proper egg size- Feed efficiency- Truly an outstanding bird.

Black Australorps-Is an eye-catching bird. It is black with an intense beetle-green sheen on its feathers. Australorps are very good brown egg layers; in fact one hen still holds the world's record by laying 364 eggs in 365 days under official Australian testing.

Araucanas-Originally from Chile, in South America they are called the Easter egg fowl. They lay colored eggs: blue, green, pink, and olive drab. These birds vary in size and color, some may have whiskers and others muffs of feathers that cover their ears. Their eggs are reported to have more nutritional value than ordinary eggs.

Buff Brahmas-These gorgeous birds are a rare variety of Brahmas with beautiful buff feathers edged in black on the neck, wings and tail. They have a rose comb with feathered shanks and toes. Mt Healthy Brahmas are very docile and broody birds, making them excellent mothers.

Buff Orpingtons- These are large, stately birds of quiet disposition. Easy to dress for the table they are white skinned, plump, and juicy, a beautiful eating bird. Their heavy, full plumages make them excellent winter layers, shelling out brown eggs right through cold weather. Baby chicks are a soft light buff color. An old time favorite with poultry people for many years. These are a nice quiet breed. They are a beautiful buff color and will lay lots of nice brown eggs.

Ducks-With proper feed and care our White Pekins will develop to a weight of 7 lb. in 8 weeks. No sexing of ducklings.

Cornish Rock Cross- The large massive Cornish Cockerels are bred to large broiler type White Rock hens. The cross produces one of the finest quality broiler type chicks that can be found anywhere. They make market weight in 7 weeks. Many of our customers report 4 lb. broilers in 7 to 8 weeks. They give you the desired broad breast, big leg, big thigh, uniform conformation, rich yellow skin, extra fast feathering, real prime broilers. We cannot overemphasize the importance of proper nutrition for your successful results from our Cornish X Rock Cross chicks! The tremendous growth rate makes it absolutely essential to feed a broiler ration to this bird. We recommend a 23% protein starter ration for the first four weeks and a 20% protein grower ration the remainder of the growing period.

Broad Breasted White Turkeys-Our broad breasted whites are an extra good compact meat type bird. They dress out well at almost any size, with a pleasantly plump carcass. They are a favorite of many because they look so well when dressed, having no dark pin feathers, and such fine color. No sexing of Turkeys poults.

Mammoth Bronze Turkeys-Our Bronzes are outstanding examples of this breed. Handsome, colorful birds that attract attention whenever seen. Hens average 18 to 20 lbs. and toms average 30 lbs. No sexing available of Turkey poults.
